2. Are You Taking Care of Yourself?

The Health Corner Blog – By Dr. Amrutha Viswanath

When first generation Sankethis immigrated to this beautiful country more than three decades ago, our focus was on everything but our health. As many of us are now getting into our 50s, 60s, and even 70s, it is ever more important that we pay attention to our health. One of the most important aspects of health care is preventive care. Here are a few preventive health care measures and issues that we should all be thinking about:

- 1) The influenza vaccine—commonly called the "flu shot"—is currently recommended for all adults over age 50. The optimal time to get a flu shot is during the early fall, so that the body can develop immunity and be prepared for the flu season in December/January.
- 2) Another important vaccine is the pneumococcal vaccine, or "Pneumovax," which is taken as a single dose. It is recommended for all persons 65 years or older. This reduces the risk of invasive pneumonia. Revaccination after 5 years is recommended for people with certain medical illnesses.
- 3) All people aged 60 or older should also get a herpes zoster vaccine, also known as "zostavax." This vaccine is recommended regardless of whether or not you have experienced herpes zoster (shingles) or whether you had chickenpox as a child. Shingles can be very painful and can potentially cause disastrous health outcomes.
- 4) It is worth noting that colon cancer has been increasing among Indians living in this country. While the causes of this trend are unknown, perhaps our increased adoption of an American diet is a factor. There is a good chance that this can be prevented with recommended colonoscopy & early detection of any potential problem.
- 5) Many Americans live sedentary lifestyles in this technology-driven age, and Indian Americans are no exception. As a result, obesity and all the health problems related to obesity, such as diabetes and heart disease, are on the rise. Regular exercise and a healthy diet low in added sugars are key to maintaining a healthy weight and a healthy cardiovascular system.

Of course, this is by no means a comprehensive list. This article is written in the spirit of opening a conversation among the many brilliant doctors and other health care professionals in the Sankethi community. I invite everyone to please come forward and share your knowledge and expertise for the benefit of the community.

And don't forget that the third generation of Sankethis is growing ever larger. We welcome input from our pediatricians on how to best care for our little ones.

Looking forward to seeing you all at the NASA annual gathering.
Have a great spring.

Warmly,
Amrutha Viswanatha M.D.

3. Fun and Festivals -- Yugadi – Mar 21 2015

_Yugadi or Ugadi, is a Hindu festival celebrated by the people of Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh with much vigor. Yug means new era and Adi means beginning; together it means beginning of a new era. In other words, it also means the beginning of a new astronomical cycle. The festival falls in the spring season and marks the first day of the New Year, which is the first day of Chaitra (March or April), the first month of the traditional Hindu calendar. But since the Hindu calendar is a lunisolar calendar, Ugadi falls on different dates every year and is also one of the most important festivals of the Hindus. Legend has it that it was on this day that the Creator of Hindu Pantheon, Lord Brahma, began his auspicious creation and created the Earth, and set days, nights, dates, weeks, fortnights, months, seasons and years to count the time.

Preparation for Ugadi begins a day or two before the actual date with people washing and cleaning their houses; buying new clothes is also one of the many traditions. On the day of Ugadi, people, especially of Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh, take an extensive ritualistic shower or oil bath followed by partaking in prayers for good health and prosperity in the coming year. Then as the day moves on, people decorate their houses with mango leaves and rangolis, and Ugadi Pachhadi (Telugu) or Bevu Bella (Kannada), a unique dish of a specific mixture with six different tastes is also prepared. The dish symbolizes different experiences ranging from sweet to bitter and that everyone should learn from these experiences and continue with life's journey. Later in the day, the event of Panchanga Sravanam is organized in many temples and cultural and religious gatherings are held, whereby predictions for the coming year are made.

Also held in many parts of these two states are Kavi Sammelans (poetic recitals), literary discussions, appreciation of authors for their literary work through awards and recognitions, and recitals of Carnatic music and classical dances. The day is considered a promising one to begin new ventures. Apart from being celebrated in Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh, Ugadi is also celebrated in many other states of India and goes by different names. In Maharashtra it goes by the name of Gudi Padwa, Sindhis celebrate it on the same day as Cheti Chand, in Punjab it is celebrated as Baisakhi, as Vishu in Kerala, and as Puthandu in Tamil Nadu. Names may be different, but one common thing that connects all the states with this festival is that, it is celebrated with much fanfare, sumptuous feasts, and delightful family gatherings. In 2015, Ugadi falls on Saturday Mar 21.

The NASA BoD wishes you all a very happy and prosperous Yugadi!

4. It's All About the FOOD!!

Traditionally, the sweet associated with Yugadi is --- Wobattu! So as to not lose all the know how and traditions for those of us who are second generation types, living in North America the following recipe is from our own NASA BoD member, Mrs. Pushpa Satyanarayan presented to try out and have some fun – Bon Appetit!!

Bele Wobattu – from Pushpa Satyanarayan

Ingredients:

- 1 cup Channa Dal – (Kadale Bele)
- 1 cup Toor Dal – (Togari Bele)
- 2 cups Jaggery – (Bella) – Can add more if you want it sweeter
- 1 cup Maida – (similar to All-purpose flour and is available at the Indian Store)
- pinch of Turmeric – (Arshana)
- ½ tsp Cardamum powder – (Yelakki)
- Ghee – (Toopa)
- Oil – (Yenne)

Directions:

1. Mix Maida with turmeric. Add Oil and mix until very soft. Let rest for 1 hour.
2. In the meantime, cook both dals in the pressure cooker with a little less water. (3.5 cups water) until fully cooked. (2-3 whistles)
3. Once cooked and cooled slightly, mash the Bele into a smooth paste.
4. On low heat, add the Jaggery and Cardamum until all are well blended
5. Let cool and form the Bele mixture into tablespoon size balls
6. Form the Maida also into tablespoon size balls and keep covered with oil
7. Take one Maida ball and flatten into a 3” round disc
8. Put one Bele ball into the disc and gather the Maida around the Bele to cover the Bele completely
9. With a rolling pin or by hand, flatten or roll out the wobattu using lots of oil such that it does not stick. It should be about 8” in diameter
10. Place the wobattu onto a pre-heated griddle and cook it like a chapatti – with ½ - 1 tsp ghee.
11. Flip it and let cook on the other side adding more ghee as required.
12. Eat while warm and enjoy!! -- You can also enjoy wobattu with Badam Milk.

5. Things to Ponder

Whitewater Rafting

Did you know that river rafting is becoming an increasingly popular adventure sport in Karnataka? Yes, on the Cauvery River, Kali River and Shrivanthi, there are schools and training centers with adventure guides. You may want to consider these as new and exciting options for your next visit ...

- Bheemeshwari: This is a hill station on the Cauvery River. There is trekking around Basavana Betta with panoramic views of the River Cauvery
- Agumbe: In Shimoga district this is a perfect site for the more experienced and adventurous. You can see waterfalls like Onake Abbi, Jogigundi, Koodlu Theertha and there are great hikes with lovely views.
- Dandeli: In Uttara Kannada in the wildlife sanctuary with tigers, leopards, black panthers, elephants and the like, you can seek out the rafting, hiking, and boating facilities to fit your fancy
- Honnemaradu: This is a small village on the way to Jog Falls with the Linganamakki Reservoir where Kayaking is a big attraction.
- Kodagu: Considered a very dangerous spot for the more experienced rafter, there are turbulent river flows through dense forests and the Bramhagiri Wildlife Sanctuary

7. Regrets

Condolences

- Smt. Nagalakshamma – mother-in-law of Dr. Amrutha Viswanath passed away on Dec 30 2014.

My mother-in-law, Smt Nagalakshamma, peacefully took her last breath on December 30th at age 94. She was a great human being, one of the kindest women I have ever known. Amma was very compassionate and did not treat her daughters-in-law any differently than her own daughter. She had the patience of Bhoomi devi. I don't recall ever seeing her angry; she never spoke ill of anybody or hurt a soul. She never cared to be in the spotlight, but she made an impact behind the scenes. She found happiness in simple things: feeding people, even with the little means she had available, gave her tremendous joy. She had six wonderful children, eleven very successful grandchildren, and eleven beautiful great grandchildren. Thank God for all my sisters-in-law, who were always very kind towards her. Our only consolation in this difficult time is that we got to spend time with her in her final days and hours. I will always treasure the memories. May God rest her soul in peace.

In many ways, she stood for the virtues of her entire generation—the generation of my parents and parents-in-law. They were very hard working. They lived simple lives, without the Internet or any of our other modern conveniences, yet they found pleasure in family and work. It is because of their sacrifices, I believe, that we are so well off today.

In fond memory,
Dr. Amrutha Vishwanath

- Mr. Prasanna Murthy of Houston Texas passed away on 27 Dec 2014.

Mr. Prasanna Murthy was a staunch supporter of NASA and is survived by his wife Eswari and his 2 daughters.

- Kum R. A. Padmaja -- sister of Divakar Rudrapatna passed away on Feb 23 2015.

Kum. Padmaja passed away at the age of 63. She was the 6th child to the late Sri R. Anantha Sreenivasaiah and late Smt. R. A. Ratnamma of Naidhruvakashyapa Gotra.

NASA recognizes the loss of these members from our community and wishes all the strength to the close survivors.
